

Bob Refrains From Reply To Dawes Attack

LaFollette Prefers to Remain on Offensive Rather Than Take Up Defense

ATMOSPHERE IS TENSE

Coolidge Running Mate Dwells at Length on Badger's Su- preme Court Policy

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette intends to withhold comment at least for the present, on the attack made on him by Charles C. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee, in a speech delivered Thursday night in Milwaukee. Intimates of Senator LaFollette said Friday that he probably will make no direct reply to General Dawes at any time during the campaign. He feels, they added, that the public, particularly in his home state of Wisconsin, is familiar with his record in public life and that it would be better to keep on the offensive during the campaign than to allow himself to be put on the defensive.

In discussing campaign plans with friends, Senator LaFollette frequently has remarked that he prefers to abstain from personalities confining himself to his address and statements to a discussion of issues.

"Perhaps," he said recently in this connection, "I may be forced to mention names, although I don't want to."

Milwaukee—Republican organization leaders in Wisconsin took steps to carry on the fight launched against the LaFollette Independent candidacy Thursday night by Charles C. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee. In an address in the Milwaukee Auditorium.

Plans for the contest in Senator LaFollette's Progressive home state were discussed informally between local party leaders and William M. Butler, Republican national chairman, after Thursday night's meeting which was attended by an audience that overflowed the Auditorium. The hall has a seating capacity of 9,000.

Republican national committee officials who accompanied Mr. Dawes here were afforded obvious indications of the strong political feeling that exists this year in Wisconsin. Cheers for Senator LaFollette were heard frequently before the meeting got under way, and these cheers grew somewhat in volume when Dawes, in his opening sentence, mentioned the name of the Wisconsin senator. The atmosphere seemed to be charged with the feeling existing in the state; several of those on the platform cast somewhat apprehensive glances over the audience and those in the audience in many cases sat forward in their seats, all feeling that there might be an open demonstration of these diverse sentiments.

STRAIN DECREASES

As Mr. Dawes proceeded with his analysis of the attitude of the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket toward constitutional questions, particularly the independent platform's declaration of congressional veto of supreme court decisions, those in charge of the meeting said they noticed a lessening of the strain. There were few interruptions from unsympathetic members of the audience thereafter except about midway in the speech when those sitting in sections near the back of the hall, got up and walked noisily out. The Republican organization officials estimated the number who did this at two or three hundred and pointed out that their places were taken immediately by an equal number from among the crowd waiting outside.

Mr. Dawes devoted his entire address to a discussion of the LaFollette movement which he declared represented "the quintessence of demagogues animated by the vicious purpose of undermining the constitutional foundation of this republic."

He attacked Senator LaFollette as "the master demagogue," described the senator's Labor day address as an affront to the common sense of the average individual, and declared the success of the LaFollette doctrine, of congressional veto of supreme court decisions "would mean that the constitution be stripped of authority, would be disastrous, and government would become the plaything of changing parties with demagogues in the saddle."

CHEKIANG FORCE CAPTURES IHING

Kiangsu Army Is Forced to Fall Back with Loss of Two Battalions

By Associated Press
Shanghai—The Chekiang forces defending Shanghai operating on the front west of this city, have captured the town of Ihing, compelling the Kiangsu army in that sector to fall back towards Changchow.

Headquarters of the Chekiang troops at Lungtwa south of here announced late Friday afternoon that two battalions (about 1,300 men) of the Kiangsu army had surrendered at a point two miles south of Ihing. The troops surrendering comprised the major portion of the force defending the town, it was said.

A delegation of the townspeople was said at Lungtwa to have waited on the Chekiang commander, petitioning him not to use artillery in capturing Ihing and assuring him that the town was only waiting to welcome the Chekiang army.

WHEELER OPENS FIGHT IN PENNSYLVANIA TODAY

Harrisburg, Pa.—Senator Wheeler of Montana, as vice presidential candidate on the LaFollette ticket, invaded Pennsylvania Friday in the course of his widely swung campaign tour. His first speeches were to be made at Harrisburg during daylight hours, in time to let him go to Altoona for an evening engagement. A quick move across the state to Philadelphia for Saturday addresses in that city was planned.

COOLIDGE WILL STAND PAT ON WORLD POLICY

President Does Not Consider Issue Sufficiently Acute to Attract Attention

AWAITS RESULT OF PLAN

Executive Is Anxious for Prac- tical Action on Limitation of Armament

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by The Post Pub. Co.
(This is the second of two dispatches written by Mr. Lawrence about Mr. Coolidge's attitude toward the campaign prior to the departure of Mr. Lawrence on a 9,000 mile trip to discover political sentiment and to analyze the campaign of the other nominees who are on tour. Mr. Lawrence talked with the president in order to learn whether any new factors would be interjected by him in the campaign between now and election day.)

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge is as anxious that something practical be done to limit further armaments of the principal powers of the world as are the spokesmen of governments who recently met in the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva.

Mr. Coolidge has no idea that the suggestion he made in his recent speech, namely, that he would convene a conference on armaments, will in any way conflict with the plan made at Geneva for a conference of powers. The Geneva institution is to appoint a commission to study the armament question and feel out the viewpoint of the powers with respect to a plan to be presented to them in an international conference. America is deeply interested in all plans which will reduce the cost of armaments. The policy of the United States government, however, is based upon a belief that a move in the direction of an international conference will come with better chance of success when Europe has had an opportunity to digest the Dawes report and to put it into actual operation.

TRUST DAWES PLAN

Just now, the administration feels quite confident that the Dawes plan will take a good deal of time and concerted thought to operate successfully and that its varied processes are the best sort of thing that can be made of the attitude of the Republican party toward questions overseas. In deed, if it were not for the Dawes plan, the Republican administration might consider itself on the defensive because the unsettled condition of affairs abroad would have provoked constant inquiry as to the American plan or solution. With a plan adopted by all the interested parties, it is felt there is nothing more the United States could do for Europe even if it were a member of the league of nations. The working out of the Dawes plan must be awaited before the next steps can be taken. And it will be long after election before it can be determined whether the Dawes plan is a success or a failure.

No new development may, therefore, be expected in connection with the foreign policy of the administration which might be a factor in the national political campaign. The administration's foreign policy will be attacked, of course, but President Coolidge is confident that with the gradual improvement of conditions in Europe he will get the benefit of public reaction rather than a resentment vote for his policies. He considers the issue sufficiently acute to excite the populace on this side of the Atlantic.

WEIGELT DEATH IS BELIEVED SUICIDE

Husband of Former Appleton Woman Is Found and Will Be Questioned

Murder theories in connection with the death of Mrs. Harry Weigelt, former Appleton woman, at Oshkosh Thursday morning practically have vanished as the result of a thorough investigation by D. K. Allen, district attorney of Winnebago co.

Harry Weigelt, her husband, who was missing and who was believed to have been seen here last, was working in Oshkosh and was found Thursday evening. He has been held since at the county jail until the district attorney could find time to question him to learn the circumstances leading up to Mrs. Weigelt's death. It is believed, however, that the case is purely one of suicide.

Mrs. Weigelt and her husband had had domestic trouble since moving from 1030 Richmond st. to Oshkosh about Dec. 1 of last year. Her body was found hanging in the woodshed at their home Thursday morning by two sons. First impressions were that the body bore marks of violence but police deny there was anything of this nature beyond a blackened eye.

No inquest has been held.

Babe And Dickie Begin Life As Nos. 9305, 9306

State Penitentiary, Joliet, Ill.—After their first night in prison, spent in the "court solitary" where all prisoners must spend their first night in the Joliet penitentiary, "Dickie" Loeb and "Babe" Leopold, dressed Thursday night as prisoners Numbers 9305 and 9306 faced the first day of life in imprisonment for the murder of Robert Frank.

Having forfeited a life of ease in their palatial Chicago homes for the routine scheduled for all "lifers," the prisoners will soon begin manual labor in one of the prison factories.

Friday they were to attend the defense day exercises to be held at the prison, and Saturday morning they will have the privilege of attending the weekly motion picture show given for the entertainment of the prisoners in the main hall.

Then, on Sunday they will have an opportunity to attend chapel services. In view of this outlined schedule, the celebrated prisoners probably will not be put to work before Monday.

The boys were hustled to the penitentiary from the Cook-co jail at Chicago Thursday night after a day of uncertainty as to the time of their departure, which was delayed for the completion of commitment papers by the state's attorney.

Death rode close behind the automobile that carried the boys to Joliet, for the car careened off the road while going 35 miles an hour and plunged onto the unballasted tracks of the Chicago and Joliet Electric railway.

The prisoners, handcuffed to their guards, narrowly escaped death as the big motor car plunged 50 feet down the track and came to a halt.

The journey was then continued uninterrupted, and the prisoners closed behind the new prisoners at 7:45 P. M. After the accident the two boys seemed badly frightened and possessed of less nonchalance than during the period of their trial and their sentence last Wednesday.

They entered their new environs with an air of apparent interest and Warden John L. Whitman said they both were well behaved during the preliminary proceedings incident upon the "dressing in."

They observed all instructions promptly and willingly, he said.

Friday life will have changed decidedly for these intellectual sons of millions. There will be no more meals brought to them from outside, nor will there be visits from friends. Even visits from relatives will be restricted.

GAS PRICE REDUCTION BACKFIRES IN LACROSSE

La Crosse—The net result of the reduction of prices of gasoline announced by the Standard Oil Co. Friday was to increase the price in La Crosse from 14.9 to 16.5 cents per gallon at service stations. A price-cutting war which has been in progress here between the Standard Oil and Independent companies for several months, was ended Friday.

Entire Nation Joins In Defense Day Test Of Resources For War

28 MILLION IS NET TAX TOTAL FOR THIS CITY

Exemption of 3,623 Homes Keeps Increase Within Quarter Million

Although the actual assessed valuation of the city of Appleton for 1924 is $2,238,675 greater than that of the previous year, due to the exemptions allowed under the homestead exemption law, the actual valuation on which taxes will be levied is only $458,300 larger than the assessment of 1923. It is evident from the compilation made by E. L. Williams, city clerk, from the records of A. C. Rule, city assessor.

The aggregate assessed valuation of the city for 1924 is fixed at $29,933,615, or a little short of the $30,000,000 mark. Exemptions allowed on 3,623 homesteads under the state homestead exemption act, in the sum of $1,780,875, reduce the total amount on which taxes can be levied to $28,152,740. The aggregate assessment of the city for 1923, when the homestead exemption law was not yet in effect, amounted to $27,694,940. The increase in the assessment as fixed by Mr. Rule is about 8 per cent, but the amount cut off by the homestead exemptions reduces the increase to about 1.6 per cent.

BUILDING AIDS SUM

A large building program helped to increase the assessment on "improvements" by about $1,500,000. The total this year is put at $17,383,450, as compared with $15,800,075 of last year. Land increased in value only about $300,000, as seen in the assessment of $6,706,975, as against $6,412,975 of last year. The total value of real estate, therefore, is nearly $2,000,000 greater than last year, as shown in the comparison of this year's assessment of $24,090,425 with the $22,213,050 of last year. Homestead exemptions, however, brought it down to only $100,000 more than last year, as far as it benefits the city for taxation purposes, the total being $22,310,050.

The total personal property, including bank stock, is less than $400,000 greater in value than that of last year. This year's personal property is assessed at $5,842,190, whereas last year's figure was put down at $5,481,890.

An increase of $125,000 is noted in the value of bank stock, which is written down at $1,200,000, as against $1,075,000 in the year previous. The remaining personal stock is valued at $4,643,190, as compared with $4,406,890. Merchants and manufacturers' stock increased from $3,191,450 to $3,303,850.

MORE AUTOS

Automobiles increased in number by 581 and $78,000 in value. There were on May 1 a total of 2,563 automobiles, while the number on the same date a year ago was 2,282. The value was assessed at $575,525, as compared with $579,525 on May 1, 1923.

The number of horses dropped from 227 to 215, and the value from $17,755 to $17,225, while the number of cows decreased from 173 to 123, and the value from $5,005 to $3,540. Wagons and sleighs numbered 138 and were valued at $6,300, motor vehicles other than automobiles numbered 71 and are assessed at $425, while boats dropped from 18 to 8, and in value from $11,750 to $10,675. Unclassified personal property was valued at $325,650, as compared with $333,125 a year ago.

Pershing Is Retired As Army Chief

LAFAYETTE MOTOR CORPORATION IS SOLD AT BIG LOSS

Nash Motors Co. Fails to Get Return for $2,000,000 Sub- scribed By It

New York—Stockholders of the Lafayette Motors corporation have approved the sale of all of its assets except cash receivable, securities, cars in stock, name and good will, to the Ajax Motors Co. for $225,000 in cash, and the dissolution of the corporation.

The proceeds of this sale, together with cash in hand and other assets not included, said a letter sent by directors to stockholders, "will enable the company after settlement of accounts with merchandise creditors to pay a substantial percentage—though less than the face value—of its bank loans. The bank creditors have indicated that they would accept such a settlement. Necessarily, this would leave nothing for the stockholders, including the Nash Motors Co., in return for the $2,000,000 subscribed by it at the date of the reorganization. "One of these major obstacles in building up a sufficient volume of sales to carry the overhead and to bring factory costs within the sales price so as to produce a profit," the letter added, "has been the rapid improvement during the last three or four years in the quality of the medium priced cars."

"At present the company is without funds for this purpose. About 800 cars have been produced since the company moved to Milwaukee and there now remain only about 40 more cars to dispose of. The liquidation of the remaining assets will not suffice to pay the bank creditors in full."

"Our directors feel that they cannot recommend to the Lafayette stockholders putting any more money into the company in a further effort to establish the business."

United States Won Its Wars Through Luck Rather Than Preparedness, Claim

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The nation's defense machinery, intended for actual use only in the event of a war emergency, was given its first test Friday, accompanied by patriotic demonstrations in every part of the United States and its possessions.

It was a limited test, the actual expansion plans of the War Department being designed to cover a period of months, but dealing only with the question of personnel and not with supply, equipment, housing or training. The progressive stages were consolidated into this one day.

When the Defense day tests actually got under way Friday it was apparent to war department officials, after studying reports from outlying commands, that their hopes had been entirely justified by the response throughout the country of men who for the day had reported for "duty" to the corps area commanders and in the more local districts to the committee set up to function like the draft board did during the war.

When Colonel Roosevelt reported to Admiral Weeks in the war secretary's office he was assigned to duty for the day to the secretary's staff and directed to report later to participate in the parade here.

A flight over Washington and over the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington was the assignment given the world fliers, who were held over here for the day.

Chicago—Defense day was ushered into the middle west Friday by parades and reviews in which hundreds of thousands of national guardsmen participated by patriotic rallies and massed meetings where public speakers emphasized national preparedness. Half holidays were declared in a number of states and in hundreds of towns and cities. The major demonstrations however are scheduled for the evening in most localities.

Major General Harry C. Hale, commander of the Sixth Army Corps area, United States army, in a message sent Friday to employees of all industrial establishments which includes the state of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, said:

"Our nation loves peace and hates war. We want no more of it; but nevertheless wars do come. This country has experienced a war each generation since its birth and I have to admit that our successes in these wars have not been due to preparedness, but rather to favorable circumstances."

"Congress in 1920 passed the national defense act. It is the first law that thoroughly considers our problem of national defense and for the first time in history a plan was laid down and the war department authorized to prepare a national defense policy under the provisions of this law. The army of the United States is at present organized, trained, administered and supplied."

THIEF IS HELD AS ARMY DESERTER

John Gage, one of the pair of youths who were arrested near Appleton by the local police on the charge of stealing an automobile, was turned over Thursday to the Shawano-co authorities. The boy was wanted also on another largely charge involving about $40.

Albert Hottentstein, 18, who was held here on the same charge of stealing an automobile, will be taken back to Fort Sheridan, Ill., where he is wanted for deserting the United States army. The car stolen belongs to Hottentstein's father, who lives in Shawano. It is a Ford roadster and had been traded for a Buick touring car at Delavan.

SHOULD KNOW PLACES

The general, after discussing the cooperation between fighting forces and industry and the needs for supplies, said:

"Every executive, every foreman and principal man should know just what changes in factory layout will be necessary for quantity production of the war product and the time required for these changes. He should know what factors are coupled with this in making the product and problems of cooperation should be solved in time of war."

Two sham battles were fought Friday, one at Yankton, S. D., and Evansville, Ind. At Jeffersonville, Ind., $75,000,000 worth of army supplies were publicly exhibited and several thousands of Indians near Winner, S. D., participated in a patriotic "pow wow." In Wisconsin, despite the order of Governor J. J. Blaine that national guard commanders would be deprived of their commissions if they called out their units, the day was observed with patriotic rallies and mass meetings in almost every city in Kentucky. Governor Fields called upon citizens there to assemble at county seats to "learn more about your national guard."

STATE MAN CALLED ON WATER PROBLEM

What constitutes the difference between capital expenditures and maintenance disbursements was explained by C. C. Matthews, statistician of the Wisconsin railroad rate commission, at a conference in the city hall Thursday evening between the Appleton water commission and the finance committee of the common council. Previous to this conference, the commission had dinner with Mr. Matthews in Conway hotel.

A difference of opinion had arisen in the minds of the members of the finance committee and the water commission over the interpretation of capital expenditures. Committee members were in doubt as to whether money for replacements should be charged against the city for capital investment, or whether it should be regarded as maintenance money and charged against the water department in depreciation reserve fund.

It was explained that when replacements are made, the city is to be credited with the original cost of the installation of the material replaced and that this cost be charged against the depreciation reserve fund. But where the cost of the replacement is greater than the original cost of installation, the difference is to be charged against the city, and the amount is to be added to the city's equity in the utility.

Dear Sirs

Please guard your hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I feel sorry to see men grow bald. It is easy to keep and to cultivate hair, and you owe it to yourselves and to us.

For many years I have sought and consulted some of the world's greatest hair experts on hair. They all agree that hair health comes from a clean and healthy scalp. Combat the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots. Tone and stimulate the scalp. Then hair grows thick, just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

Those experts have Hopper Photo 1923 always supplied me the best helps known to science. Each new and better help discovered has come to me at once. Now I have had all of these combined in a product I call my Hair Youth. I have placed it on drug and toilet counters at every woman's call. But men need it more than women, so this is written to urge men to learn how much it does.

I am no longer young. For 35 years I have been a stage star. But my hair today is thicker and finer than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff and never a touch of gray. Now I offer you in my Hair Youth every help which brought those results to me. I am well assured that they combine the greatest hair helps Hopper Photo 1923 in existence.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth is sold everywhere today. It costs 50c and $1 per bottle.

Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send with it something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

ARBITRATION AND ADJUDICATION

"But do we not believe that military alliances can bring security. Such alliances, like mustard seeds, which finally produce a tree, would bring the world back to the situation that existed before 1914. Pacts based on military alliances would break up the league. If we cannot devise a system of arbitration, then do not let us fool ourselves that we are going to have peace." The foregoing consists of two excerpts to which we have previously referred from the address of the British premier, MacDonald, to the assembly of the League of Nations. They give expression to thoughts which every one in the world, who believes in peace, has in mind.

Military pacts grew out of political experience in ancient and medieval, even in modern, times. Kings entered into offensive and defensive agreements in order to seize territory or to protect themselves from a strong enemy. Military pacts never prevented a great war. They were not only causes of war, but they were largely instrumental in developing that pernicious practice known as secret diplomacy. Nations conspired against one another. Combinations were formed generally for purposes of aggression and aggrandizement, which are among the chief causes of war.

Whether war can be stopped altogether or not, the nations should take every precaution for peace. If only a few wars are prevented, some good of immense benefit to humanity will be accomplished. Prevention of war must be progressive.

The first requisite to stop war is an honest desire for peace. The next is honest dealing by the leading governments. Peoples will make headway with peace through mutual understanding and trustfulness. Arbitration unquestionably would obviate many wars, perhaps most. Differences of most sorts are amenable to settlement. Those that cannot or would not be submitted to arbitration are the kind that involve duplicity. The people want no more war. Public opinion throughout the world favors international arbitration and a world court of adjudication. The great majority, if not ultimately all, international issues can be settled by these methods. Of the two adjudication is preferable to arbitration.

COUZENS WINS IN MICHIGAN

We take it the Republican organization will be eminently pleased with the primary in Michigan, in which the active supporter of President Coolidge, Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, was heavily beaten by Senator James Couzens. There was a time during the last session of congress when it looked as though Senator Couzens would emerge as a bolter. He has nothing in common with the Old Guard of the party. He has been indiscreet at times, as in his controversy with Secretary Mellon, but he nevertheless is a thorough-going progressive.

There was some hope among the independents that he would repudiate the national ticket and support La Follette and Wheeler. This Mr. Couzens declined to do, and while he has not been overstrong in his efforts in behalf of Mr. Coolidge he has identified himself with the party in this campaign.

Had Judge Tuttle been nominated the Old Guard would have held the result to be a triumph for the national ticket. As it is it will have to forget that and welcome the successful candidate into the fold. Michigan is an uncertain state. Roosevelt carried it for the Progressives in 1912. The Democrats have carried it on several occasions and now have one of the senatorships.

Michigan will be a real battleground in the election. Offhand we should say the nomination of Couzens will help the Coolidge ticket, even if he is a lukewarm party man. Undoubtedly he will work for the election of Mr. Coolidge. We think he will help to give the president a large plurality in that state.

GENERAL PERSHING

Today, practically six years from the morning his forces led the way to victory by the attack at St. Mihiel. General Pershing retires as chief-of-general-staff. It is not a mere coincidence that this event falls on national defense day. It is said that the mobilization of America's citizen army on this day was born of a desire and suggestion by General Pershing.

Comparisons are of little value, but this eminent soldier takes his place with Washington and Grant as America's famed military leaders. There is no more of the professional soldier about Pershing than there was about the man who led the Union forces to victory, or the Father of His Country. The task he undertook and discharged with such success was of a wholly different character than those faced by his predecessors. Pershing had to deal with modern warfare and commanded an army of nearly 4,000,000 men. It was an undertaking that only a great intellect, a great will and a great courage could compass. Pershing did it with honor to himself and glory to America.

The patriotism and character of this general should be a lasting inspiration to the youth and citizenship of the country. His has been an unselfish service, and his contribution to the nation's security and progress is incalculable. He stands out like a tower or rock typifying the highest and best there is of Americanism. He is worth more to the United States than a thousand politicians who prattle about their virtues and all the pacifists who storm militarism. He is one of the comparatively few men in our history to whom America owes more than it can ever repay.

If unfortunately America should fail to respond to the call for defense day mobilization it would be a sorrow appreciation of this distinguished defender of his country. Puny men have opposed it. The strong men are with Pershing and the government of which he is an important part. Unostentatious, unselfish, asking no political reward or emoluments, espousing the highest ideals of Americanism, fearing only God, Pershing stands out as one of our foremost national figures. He is deserving of a fitting tribute from his country. This recognition should come at the next sitting of congress, and it should be adequate.

THE AIR MAIL

It may be that heavy freight will not be transported in the air. It seems probable there never will be long trains of aerial cars hauling iron and steel, lumber and other commodities. Vehicles traveling over the ground seem to be better adapted to handling ponderous loads, and yet no one can say with certainty that they will not be supplanted with air vessels.

The airship is conveying not only first-class mail, but many kinds of express. Much money is going from place to place by airplane; and we are told that it is shipped more cheaply, as well as more quickly.

The air mail is a success and in time will be a great success. Valuable and light freight will be expressed more and more by air. Transportation is undergoing revolution both on land and in the air. Transportation is undergoing revolution both on land and in the air. Gradually we are developing machines and methods suitable to our various needs.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

COOPERATION

IT seems a safe guess that the biggest success comes through treatin' your fellow-man right. The boss in a shop's oft too busy to stop and consider the power of his might. He'll often times strive just to order and drive 'cause he thinks it will get the most work. But he'll soon understand that the average man resents—and is likely to shirk.

There's no room for prattle for men are not cattle; a very wise man is the boss who can lead and not drive, for he'll keep things alive, and his crew will bring profit—not loss.

The every-day fellow's a long way from yellow. You'll find that he'll stand up and fight. If work plays him fair he will hold up his share but you've got to keep treatin' him right.

We'd best be a nation of co-operation. You bosses don't want men to score you. You'll find that a gent gives one hundred per cent if he can work with, and not for you.

COMPANY IN SCHOOL

A reader tells how he made a motion, at a meeting of the school board, that the school rooms be fumigated before the opening of the school for the autumn term. This was the reason for the motion: "After the scholars have been in school a few weeks they nearly all get head lice. Now in this day and age these things are not considered at home. But it seems they must be exported and dealt with after the youngsters enter school. What the board would not believe is that the vermin can survive the two months vacation and be ready to prey in September. I think that with a thorough fumigation, and with the pupils returning without lice, we can have a clean school."

In the first place, head lice, like other vermin, do not "jest grow" as Topsy did. They must have parents to spring from. So do fleas, when it comes to springing. And like the common or household bedbug which has no wings at all. It is a quaint notion, still discernible in the popular mind, that some of these visible pests can arise from mere filth or from uncleanness, just as uneducated people sometimes imagine disease germs, too small to be visible to the unaided eye, can "breed" in refuse or filth by spontaneous generation and many popular "sanitary precautions" are based upon such absurd conceptions.

To fumigate the school room might possibly kill any pediculi or other vermin which may be "lurking" there—"lurking" in the way the pretty magazine kind of "sanitary precaution" would have the germs "lurking." But even though head lice may survive hours, days or weeks in or about a school room, the chances are that the ordinary methods of fumigation would not bother them much. Fumigation with the dangerous poison gas, hydrocyanic acid, which was used to execute a criminal recently, will destroy vermin in a room, but this demands the service of an expert fumigator who knows how to handle the dangerous agent.

Ordinary cleaning of the school rooms should be efficient.

The lice are more likely brought to school by one of the pupils and distributed generously from head to head.

What is needed in such a school is a suitable medical inspection. No child with vermin should be permitted to attend school.

Many of the country school houses one sees are crude and scarcely decent shelters for children, with a approach to the community that provides such miserable shacks, really more appropriate abodes for vermin. A school child's cleanliness and health are determined largely by the conditions of the house he lives in five hours a day.

The superstitious, wasteful and utterly useless rite of fumigating school rooms in the vain attempt to "stamp out" epidemics of diphtheria, scarlet fever or other infectious diseases still prevails in some backward places. This sorry practice not only has no appreciable influence upon the spread of a disease but is indirectly a dangerous thing because it gives unsophisticated people a false sense of security which leads to thoughtless or careless exposure and hence to the further spread of the disease—since in all instances it is the human or animal carrier, not objects, that conveys the infection. An ordinary cleaning of the school room is always sufficient, as is an ordinary cleaning of the sick room after diphtheria, scarlet fever or other infectious diseases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Please give the address of publisher of a pamphlet on cancer, which you have recommended in your column. (Mrs. W. W. G.)

Answer:—The American Society for the Control of Cancer, 25 West Forty-fifth, New York, N. Y., issues some free pamphlets. The American Medical Association, 535 North Dearborn-st., Chicago, Ill., publishes some authoritative pamphlets on various phases of the subject, at a uniform price of 25 cents each. A volume in the National Health Series published by Funk & Wagnalls, New York, N. Y., gives a good general discussion of cancer; these volumes sell at 50 cents net. The reading matter on this subject issued by reputable sources for the laity is neither so voluminous nor so spectacular as the reading matter distributed by cancer quacks, but it is safe.

FAMOUS SAYINGS OF

FAMOUS PEOPLE

Pirpo: Clothes do not make the man.

Camp fire girls of Little old New York are doing their best to popularize old-time American songs, like "Old Kentucky Home," "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe," and "Home Sweet Home." That explains why we hear them so often over the radio when we want the baseball scores.

Hades, Sept. 12, 1924.

Mr. Rollo! At the direction of the Forty Thieves, Black Beard, Jean LaFitte, Jesse James and many other mundane leaders of yesterday, I take great pleasure in announcing that the chief seat of our Highway Robbers and Pirates association is again occupied. A year and a half ago I dropped in incognito to a theater in New York to see a picture for half a dollar. They do that in New York and no one thinks anything of it. A year and a half later I go to see the same picture advertised at the same price, but the box office soaks me six bits. Stir up the fire, boys, for new guests are about to arrive.

CAPTAIN KIDD.

Appleton tenants may have their troubles as a result of the housing shortage, but think of poor Coolidge in that house over at Washington and nine different families wanting to move in!

One job that is worse than being president of the United States is being a wife feeding a family of seven.

The Chicago Tribune has found a new name for LaFollette supporters—Bobcats.

Charlie Davies attacked the bobcats in their own lair at Milwaukee Thursday night and time alone—or Nov. 4, to be more specific—will tell if he was injured much.

LaFollette campaign managers have adopted the Liberty bell as the emblem of their campaign button. But why this emblem? The bell has been hushed even before Volstead days.

Some folks may not see the connection between the Liberty bell and Bob LaFollette. Probably it is in the coincidence that, both are declaring independence.

Jake, however, who gets real ornery sometimes, points to the fact that the bell is cracked.

And so, Jake deduces, both bells have been dumb for some time.

Mawruss knows of two young men at Chicago who are going to be appointed members of the board of directors for that institution, LaFollette. But they'll probably drop their nick names, "Babe," and "Dickie," now.

Gospel Bearers Ignore Culture Among Chinese

(Judean Arnold, in The Independent.)

Probably no nation in all of human history has produced so many scholars as has China. For upward of three thousands of years, the Chinese have revered and respected the scholar. They were among the first people to have had books and libraries. The Chinese invented printing and printer's inks. For over 1,000 years there was perpetuated in China a system of literary examinations for aspirants to official position, which necessitated a thorough knowledge of their classics, written before the beginnings of the Christian era.

This system of examinations set the standards for scholarly attainment. It did not discriminate against any stratum of their society, which through all these centuries remained democratic. The aristocracy of China was that of the scholar, for the country has long been ruled by those who qualified as men of learning after a most rigid system of examinations perpetuated in a stereotyped form over a longer period than has obtained with any other peoples.

As a resultant of this rich civilization, over so long a period of time, a degree of culture has filtered down through the masses in such a way that none has been able to escape it. The servant in a Chinese household, although he may be illiterate, will thank his master for a small gratuity with the natural grace and dignity of a gentleman.

We are spending ten of millions of dollars in efforts to train the Chinese to know us and to appreciate western ideals and things western. We have set up in China scores of schools supported by American contributions and staffed with American teachers, mostly under Christian missionary auspices, and we are educating thousands of Chinese in American colleges.

When America returned $11,000,000 of its Boxer indemnity to China, with arrangements for the education of Chinese students in American colleges, this was proclaimed a masterpiece in international statesmanship. While millions of American dollars and thousands of Americans are devoting their efforts toward giving the Chinese the advantages and virtues of western culture, what is being done to train Americans to understand and appreciate the riches of Chinese culture? Almost nothing. It is neither to the broader interests of China nor to the advantage of America's future with China that this one-sided arrangement should be longer perpetuated.

Practical Man Is An Idealist

(St. John Adcock, in The Landmark.)

I cannot understand why anyone should take it for granted that the idealist is hopelessly unbusinesslike; the longer I live the more clearly I see that, in the long run, he is the only really practical man. Bismarck seemed to be doing the sensible, profitable thing when he annexed Alsace-Lorraine, but recent events indicate that he could have done anything more unpractical.

They were idealists who, despite the opposition of many who were supposed to be very practical, gave self-government to South Africa, and the results

A POSTHUMOUS CAREER

It is beginning to look as if Morgan Robertson, writer of sea stories, is going to stage a "comeback" nearly ten years after his death. There are signs in literary reviews that interest in Robertson is increasing and it is not impossible that his books may yet find a popular reputation for him and earn for his heirs the money that they should have earned for him while he was alive.

If this should come about it would be a bit of irony that may be presumed to incite Robertson's ghost to bitter humor. This writer of sea stories died in 1915 and although he had written a great deal and although his sea tales were of a character that won the admiration of a few, he was a poor salesman and as a result he was so poor in money that during his last sickness a number of his friends contributed five dollars apiece to keep him from actual want when he was almost on his deathbed.

Morgan Robertson always just missed grasping the big rewards that some writers far less able than he, artistically considered quite easily obtained. He knew the sea at first hand and he knew how to use the English language with telling effect in bringing out the grim terror of the ocean.

With such an equipment he ought to have captured the imagination of the great reading public and cashed in on it in dollars and cents. But he failed to do this in spite of his equipment.

VAGABOND AT FIRST

He was sailor and vagabond during the earlier part of his life and did not take to writing until his middle thirties. His career in this respect somewhat parallels that of Joseph Conrad, although of course I do not wish to draw a parallel between the two in respect to the character of their work.

Both writers had the sea as a theme but otherwise there was little resemblance. Conrad was a genius. Robertson is considered a genius by some but there is plenty of room for doubt in his case.

But the point is that Morgan Robertson knew thoroughly what he was writing about when he began to write, just as did Conrad. For years, in fact until after Robertson's death, it looked as if Conrad would not catch the ear of the public any more than Robertson. Had Robertson lived 10 years longer, he might have built one of the big literary reputations of his generation.

MISSED OUT BY HAIR

But it was his ill luck almost always to miss out by a hair. This is illustrated rather pathetically in the case of his invention of a periscope. In addition to being a writer Robertson was something of a mathematical wizard, and the idea of the periscope came to him as a result of his years upon the sea. He told a French journalist about it one day and that writer described the Yankee's idea in a newspaper article, probably treating it as a mere or less wild dream.

But Robertson went on to perfect his periscope and when he had all the details worked out he applied for a patent. Had he secured it, there is little doubt but that it would have meant wealth for him. But the patent office was unable to grant the patent because the idea was not new; it had been described in a French journal before the patent was applied for and so under the international patent laws the patent could not be granted.

That was the kind of luck Morgan Robertson played in most of his life in his writing career as well as in everything else. He died poor and disillusioned and disappointed. The world? There is none so far as I can see. Robertson did not fail because he did not work hard enough or because he did not have the goods or because of weakness or because of any of the other causes that sometimes make men fail. A few years of life might very well have meant all the difference between failure and success; or a chance hit with a relatively inferior book might have turned the trick. That is often happens. If it turns out now that he is to have a posthumous career it will be in keeping with the story of his life.

Miss Meusel Will Study In New York

Conservatory Graduate Will Be Operatic Pupil of Witherspoon

Miss Lucille Meusel, soprano, a graduate of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, will leave for New York shortly where she will continue her studies under Herbert Witherspoon, one of the country's best known voice teachers and critics. Miss Meusel was awarded a scholarship last summer which gave her a course under Witherspoon and at the completion of it she was one of three, chosen from a group of sixty, who was advised by Witherspoon to continue training for an operatic career.

Miss Meusel, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Meusel of Green Bay, studied last year with C. J. Waterman, Dean of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. She appeared with the Lawrence college glee club on its annual tour last year and delighted her audiences. This is to give a joint recital in Green Bay on Sept. 18 with Miss Mary Waterstreet, also of Green Bay, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's club.

Miss Meusel has appeared in a number of local musical productions and Appleton people are taking a genuine interest in the young singer's efforts.

GAS IN STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. adv.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lancing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:
I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to the different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lancing, 1306 Jetties Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

URGE HEAVY VOTE
NEXT TUESDAY ON BRIDGE QUESTION

Photograph of Proposed Structure is on Display in Bank Window

Kaukauna—Tuesday, Sept. 16, is special election day and voters of the city are being urged to turn out and cast their ballots on the question of appropriating $100,000 for the construction of new bridges. Plans and specifications for the structure have already been completed and the approval of United States engineers has been received. The question, however, according to the statutes, be presented for a vote of the people.

A photograph of the proposed bridge has been on display in the window of the First National bank. The bridge across the transportation canal will be a drawbridge of the lift type, so arranged that its floor can be raised only to a height necessary to allow the passage of the vessel underneath. The top of the tower will be utilized to string electric power wires across the river.

Since the proposed site of the new bridge has been changed to eliminate most of the curves which now exist at the approach to the lower bridge from the north side, it is planned to leave the old bridge stand for the benefit of traffic to and from the mills in that district. The new location, however, will give the Union Bag mill room to enlarge its buildings at any time.

Only two voting precincts will be used for the election Tuesday. North side voters will use the second ward precinct while those on the south side will vote at Third ward precinct. The polls will be open at 6 o'clock in the morning and will close at 8 o'clock in the evening.

PUBLISH ORIOLE
EVERY SIX WEEKS

Kaukauna—The wheels of organization have been started moving in the high school and members of the staff of the Oriole, the high school's monthly paper, have taken up their duties for the coming term. The Oriole will be printed this year at the end of every six weeks. It was decided at a meeting of the staff this week.

The paper will be as much better this term as efforts of the workers can make it. All have had experience, since this year's staff took active charge in the publication of the last issue of the paper last term. Only one change in personnel has been made. Carl Grimm was elected advertising manager to succeed Clifford VanAbel, who has moved to Madison.

At the meeting plans were made for a circulation campaign which will reach its climax next Thursday. An original play will be given during the assembly period to impress upon the students the importance of subscribing for the Oriole. The personnel of the staff follows: the gallant means by which they earned their name.

Norbert Gerend, editor-in-chief; Kurtis Beyer, business manager; Armond Licht, managing editor; Anna Jaackel, Josephine Maes and John Rohan, editorial writers; Walter Dier, associate editor; Vera Plieshek, circulation manager; Mildred Feller, treasurer; Carl Grimm, advertising manager; Harold Coleman, artist; Maria Berndt, Alice Guilfoyle, copy editor; Cornelius Mayer, humor editor; Sylvester Dix, sport editor; Helen Martens, society reporter.

The man who led the 32nd division through one of the most brilliant records made by any group of men during the war is Maj. Gen. W. G. Haan. He refers to the films as "the best pictorial history of the real activities in the war so far prepared."

The fault with most war films, according to former service men, is that they are too broad in scope, too general in content to prove of any great satisfaction to the members of any particular division.

Almost every inch of the film is devoted to the doings of Milwaukee and Wisconsin men in action. Familiar faces, customs, places and experiences will be reviewed in the showing of the film. And a fellow can almost reach out and shake hands on the silver sheet with the buddies he probably hasn't seen since they were mustered out.

Naturally, the most interesting of these moving pictures deal with the actual battles in and around Chateau Thierry, with the French at Juvigny, and most important of all, breaking the Kremlhilde Stellung in the Meuse Argonne. Signal corps photographers accompanied the Red Arrows in all of these battles and the very best pictures obtained are reproduced in the film.

COURTHOUSE FOUNDATION WILL BE SANDBLASTED

At a special meeting of the county building and grounds committee, it was decided to have the foundation of the courthouse cleaned by the process of sand blasting. The job was given to Schroeder & Lueders at a price of $125. The brick exterior of the building is to be painted. Contract for this work was awarded previously to William Nehls.

DRAMA AND COMEDY IN WEST-ERN FILM

William Duncan is at his very best in "The Fighting Guide," which will be shown at the New Bijou theater today and Saturday. Duncan's treatment evolves a novel admixture of straight drama and comedy, with a scenic grandeur that would do credit to the best efforts of the scenic feature producers. The ensemble proves an unusually pleasing entertainment. If you can imagine a rather hardboiled, though intensely human northwoods guide, nursing a petulant nobleman and his valet over the trails, you have the key to the situation which finally exasperates this guide person, and starts him on a program of retaliatory measures. There is a substantial plot with big interest behind it, a real love story. Through it all stalks the gasp-provoking, typically American figure of this north woods guide, philosopher, two-listed teacher of first principles.

Edith Duncan, co-star of Duncan, is cast as the heroine. She falls in love with Duncan, who saves her father from an undeserved execution at the hands of an unscrupulous conspirator.

Wisconsin Under Fire!

The phrase carries a load of meaning. "Under Fire" is the title of the official war film which opened Thursday at the Elite Theatre under the auspices of the Oney Johnston Post No. 38, American Legion.

The purpose of the film is not to arouse unpleasant sentiment, nor to fight the war over again, but just to give the Red Arrow boys, who wrung from the French the admiring title of Les Terribles, a chance to see again and to show the folks at home

Join the Appleton Y. M. C. A. and belong to 2,000 Y. M. C. A.s the world over.

Packard And Remley Are Chosen To Lead "Y" Membership Race

GEORGE H. PACKARD (LEFT) AND ADAM C. REMLEY (RIGHT) ARE CHAIRMAN AND ASSOCIATE CHAIRMAN, RESPECTIVELY, OF THE CAMPAIGN FOR Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS WHICH OPENS ON SEPT. 30. THEY SPONSOR THE ANNUAL CANVASS UNDER A NEW PLAN OF HAVING THE PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT TAKE THE LEAD IN THIS TASK.

Preparations are being made for the annual membership campaign of Appleton Y. M. C. A. George H. Packard, chairman of the physical department committee, will direct the campaign this year, with Adam C. Remley as associate chairman. The opening date will be Sept. 30. A novel plan has been adopted for this year's membership drive and will make Appleton a pioneer if it is carried out successfully. Undoubtedly it will be copied by many Y. M. C. A.'s of the country. While the physical department has been active in all past campaigns, this year it will assume the major responsibility of the organization in putting the campaign over. The physical department met last Tuesday and voted to accept the responsibility and asks all members using the department, business men, young men and boys, to help them to make it a success. Where an annual campaign is not held, it becomes necessary to add to the budget by engaging additional secretaries to do this membership work. It requires a change of plan each year to stimulate interest and furnish new enthusiasm and competition in the campaign. It is believed that 150 men and boys can do a more thorough job in three days than several full time secretaries can do and at a big saving of money. The Appleton Y. M. C. A.'s fine building, its large membership and active program, extensive community service and support, have given Appleton an enviable name not only in Wisconsin and in the country at large but also in every foreign land where there is a Y. M. C. A. The annual membership campaign in the fall has been uniformly successful for nine years. Men and boys who make the most use of the Y. M. C. A., namely those in the physical department, will push the campaign, although men not using the departments will be asked to help in the work. The organization will include a general chairman, an associated chairman, four division chairmen, twenty lieutenants and two or three additional men on each team, the remainder to be recruited from persons not active in the physical department.

The plan is to secure the annual renewal of each men's, boys' and sustaining memberships, and secure enough new ones to make up the loss which usually occurs when men and boys who move away or for some reason or other fail to renew. An effort will be made to secure enough additional members so that the total membership may reach 1,400. Teams will try to obtain 300 boys, 1,000 men and 100 sustaining memberships. The present membership is 1,200.

It is pointed out that the success of such a campaign will stimulate the whole rank and file of the membership and demonstrate without question to the community that the men using the Y. M. C. A. are willing to work for it in addition to paying their dues. Many of these men now carry business men's and sustaining memberships. The latter provides a substantial subscription to care for the annual cost and to take care of the large public service for which no charge is made.

GAIN OF 88 SHOWN IN ENROLMENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

All Districts Have Increase Except First, Where Loss Is 14

Miss Carrie E. Morgan, secretary of the board of education, submitted at the board meeting Wednesday afternoon an enrolment report of the public school on Monday, Sept. 8, the second Monday of the school year. It showed a gain of 23 students in the high school, 32 in the vocational school and a total gain of 88 in all schools over the enrolment last year. The total enrolment of boys in the public schools on that date was 1,702; girls 1,763, total 3,465, which was an increase of 56 over the enrolment at the same time a year ago. The first district showed a loss of 14 pupils, the ungraded room a loss of 8 pupils and the deaf school a loss of two. The enrolment of boys in the high school is 479 and that of girls, 551.

The enrolment by districts is given below:

First—Boys, 269; girls, 261; total, 530; total last year, 544; loss 14.

Too Big a Fistful to Pull Out

POPULAR animal stories tell amusingly of the monkey clutching a handful of nuts in a gourd or narrow vase—straining for hours with a fistful too big to pull out and too tempting to let go.

We don't have to go as far back as the monkey to find the like. Every day we see the spectacle of motorists persistently hugging the penny temptation of cheapened motor fuels, with never a chance of extracting the value from their supposed economy.

In a certain type of explosive engine, suitable for industrial use but not for automobiles, it is true that heavy, kerosenish fuels will give up more power than more gaseous or volatile ones.

Like the nuts, the power units are there, all right, but the type of motor practical for cars can't bring them out any more than the monkey's fist will pull through the narrow neck.

Wadham's True Gasoline

has not as many power units as if it were a heavier fuel of another nature—but it has better power units from an automobile standpoint because they all come out with every explosion!

That is why its refining range is limited to only the part of the petroleum that can be used for power by your motor. It is the clear quill—truly and completely explosive—free from the dangerous padding of carbon-laden and kerosenish material that won't come out but stays behind to work havoc with your motor.

Her Great TEMPTATION

He told her that marriage was simply a form—that in the eyes of God they were man and wife as surely as though a dozen ceremonies had been spoken over them. And like thousands of other girls who listen with their hearts instead of their minds—she believed him.

Had she known the truth about life, what bitter anguish of soul she would have escaped! "His Great Temptation," which was also "Her Great Temptation," is a powerful, heart-gripping narrative you won't soon forget. It is only one of the many remarkable features in October True Story, now on sale at all newsstands.

JOYCE APPOINTED C. OF C. DIRECTOR; SUCCEEDS BABCOCK

Federal Shipping Board De-sires to Arrange Dinner for Industries

Walter Joyce was appointed a director of the chamber of commerce to succeed Henry A. Babcock, resigned, at a meeting of the board Wednesday. A report from the rural affairs committee was read which said one of the reasons for holding no meetings in the country this year was largely because of bad weather, although two or three farmers had extended invitation to meet at their homes.

The community welfare committee reported that work was going on in the better city contest and that a few of the schedules that had not been prepared in time for the last meeting had been received from Madison. The telephone committee informed the directors that it had held several meetings and will soon meet with a like committee from Green Bay. After the data have been gone over a report will be submitted to the directors at their next meeting. The program of the forum committee for the coming season was approved.

A letter from the United States shipping board asking the chamber of commerce to arrange for a meeting of manufacturers of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha interested in export trade was brought to the attention of the directors. Hugh G. Corbett, general secretary, was instructed to get in touch with the manufacturers and find out if they were interested in attending a dinner at which the speakers would be T. Parks Hay and F. L. Roberts of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

If the manufacturers would like to have them come here the speakers would probably spend two days among them, giving them expert advice in the solution of their export problems.

Another letter from the Wisconsin Land of Lakes, Inc., was read which said a report would be made very shortly as to the disbursements of that organization, how the money was expended, and the results of the advertising. The directors were asked to make suggestions as to chamber of commerce cooperating with them in raising a budget for next year. No action was taken.

VICTOR WERNER OPENS GREEN BAY LAW OFFICE

Victor D. Werner, attorney-at-law, son of Judge E. V. Werner of the Tenth circuit court, has announced the opening of a new law office in Green Bay. Mr. Werner, who formerly resided in Shawano, is well known in Appleton, having received his training at Lawrence college and later at the University of Wisconsin law school. While at Lawrence he won prominence through his oratorical ability, taking first places in both the Wisconsin state and the interstate collegiate oratorical contests.

GRADE NEW STREET SOUTH OF BRIDGE

Grading was commenced this week on Cherry-st south of the new bridge by employees of the street department. The street will be opened, graded and cindered as far south as the city limits so that the road will be ready for use just as soon as Winnebago-co finishes its portion of the route that will connect the Menasha-rd with the Cherry-st bridge.

Meanwhile a new street, taking the name of Adams-st, is being cut through from Seymour-st to Foster-st, providing a slightly roundabout route from the bridge to Menasha-rd.

The streets will be ready for travel before the bridge is finished which will be early in October.

NOT MANY ORDERS FOR EXPLOSIVE

Orders thus far for pyrotol, war explosive sold by the state department of agriculture for land clearing purposes, have been scarce in Outagamie-co. R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent, will place orders for farmers who desire this material.

The supply of sodatol used here last year for the same purpose has become exhausted. Pyrotol, while somewhat more expensive than sodatol, is still considerably cheaper than dynamite. If enough orders are received, a carload will be unloaded at Black Creek. Otherwise the orders will be shipped singly.

The cost of this explosive is $7.90, which is the cost of manufacturing, converting, and packing it. It costs more to produce this material for the reason that it is prepared and converted under water and then dried.

NO RESERVE OFFICERS ENROLLED AFTER NOV. 11

The period during which former officers of the World war may apply for commission in the reserve corps and be appointed solely on an examination of their records will end Nov. 11. Due to the large number of applications expected to be handled in a short time, the war department is desirous that those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity submit their application as soon as practicable.

Applications or communications on the subject from officers in this district should be submitted to Organized Reserve office, Room 304, Post-office building, Green Bay, according to Capt. Fred B. Rogers.

GOOD NEWS FOR AILING WOMEN

Much has been said for and against proprietary medicines by the medical profession. It will interest every woman to know that in a recent country-wide canvass of over 121,000 purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as to the results received from its use, the replies received showed that ninety-eight out of every one hundred women had been benefited by its use. Therefore every sick and ailing woman owes it to herself to give this remarkably successful remedy a fair trial.

PRINTER GETS COUNTY MAP EARLY NEXT MONTH

Work on the new county map that is to be issued shortly is progressing. The tracing has already been completed and the abstracting is about half finished. Frank M. Charlesworth, Jr., county surveyor, did the tracing, and Herman J. Kamps, is doing the abstracting that is necessary to bring the map up to date. The map probably will be ready for the printer by Oct. 6, and will be off the press about Nov. 1. A large size edition and a pocket size edition will be issued.

My sister seems to have grown two or three inches taller, although she told me a little superciliously, looking at my plumpness, that she'd only grown more slender. She is really more English than an Englishwoman herself—speaks with a broad accent and draws her words. I think, however, that she has done this so long that it has become second nature to her, for she does not seem to be putting it on entirely. She was always a great mimic. Karl seems to be quite devoted to her—at least he is made to wait upon her in a way that must have been an eyepener to the British. It might help you to remember some of the things I asked you to do for me when you leave for the office in the morning, which you invariably forget.

Alice dresses in the English fashion. She hasn't the smartness of our American girls, but its very becoming to her. In evening dress, which she wore at dinner last night, she is a stunning looking girl. I've always thought the English woman looks better in the evening than we do. Karl has given her a magnificent string of pearls which she wears with great pride. The only really American thing that I have known her to do since she came back is to tell me that they cost a hundred thousand dollars.

Mother seemed quite disappointed that I didn't bring little Jack, but Alice remarked: "Of course. It isn't as hard to leave him as it would be if he were your own child!" At that moment I hated my sister. Dad asked me all about you and seemed to be much pleased that you are getting along so well—said he always knew you were going to succeed. Mother was quite anxious to know all about Sally's husband dying, and Dad wanted to know if you would let Sally return to him, because she was the best advertisement copy writer he had ever had. I told him I was afraid you'd not like to let Sally go back to him—that you got along well with her and that you had promised her a big raise in a month or two. Alice remarked at this that she couldn't understand a woman's working in an office day after day, which seemed to rile dad, for some reason or other. (I don't think he admires all of Alice's little ways.) He spoke up and said:

"I consider Mrs. Atherton one of the most feminine women I have ever known. While you may think it was a great misfortune that she had to earn her living, I want you to know I would be glad to know that either of my daughters could do so if they were called upon, as well as she does."

"Well, I don't think I'll ever be called upon," said Alice complacently, with a look of understanding toward Karl.

Karl colored, and I know, dear, that he as well as I, thought the remark was rather bad taste. Of course I have lots and lots to tell you which I cannot write. I hope your mother has made herself comfortable. Be sure and telephone Ruth to go over and see her and take these caps, as I mentioned them to her in a note I wrote before I left.

Dear Jack, I'm awfully glad that you're not like Karl Whitney. I'd be bored to death with a man who always was on the lookout to see just what I wanted. Of course there are times, dear, when you might be a little more observing of my inclinations, but as a whole—

I think we fared.
My heart and I.
You see like Elias Wegg, I'm dropping into poetry, consequently I think I'd better close.
Kisses little Jack for me. I shall long for your kisses until I return lovingly.

LESLIE.

Adventures Of The Twins

PETEY POLAR BEAR'S HOUSE

"Let's go to see Petey Polar Bear," said Weeny to the Twins.

"All right," said Nancy and Nick, just like that. "Where does he live?" "Up north near Santa Claus," said Weeny.

"Near Mister and Mrs. Seal?" asked Nick.

"Not so very far," said Weeny. "If I hadn't floated away on an iceberg, we'd have gone to see Petey while we were up north before. But since we have so much magic along, it won't take us long to go back. Got my satchel with my night and spec?"

"We've got it," said Nancy. "And your tooth-brush, too."

"Then all aboard for Santa Claus Land!" cried Weeny swinging his trunk back and forth pretending he was a brakeman with a lantern.

"Toot! Toot!"

And away he started to the cold, cold north to visit Petey Polar Bear, his old circus friend.

And 'you'd be surprised how quickly they got there on the elephant express. You certainly be surprised!

"Way, in no time at all they were standing right before Petey's house and knocking on his ice-door.

"Come in," said a grumbly, growly voice.

So Weeny turned the knob with his trunk and went in, but it was a pretty tight squeeze and the Twins nearly got scraped off his back.

There sat Mister Bear reading his paper.

He looked surprised when he saw them. "Why, how d' do?" he growled pleasantly. "I didn't know we had company. Do sit down. Mrs. Bear is out hanging up our winter furs so the moths won't get into them. She'll be in in a minute."

"Is Petey at home?" asked Weeny elephant, sitting down to let the Twins slide off his back.

"Not just now," growled Mister Bear. "He's gone to the fish store to get some fish for lunch. What news do you bring?"

"Oh, there isn't any news, much," said Weeny. "Things are just about the same."

"How did the ball game turn out?" asked Mister Bear.

"Oh, the Boxers won," said Weeny. "Two hundred to one hundred and ninety-nine."

"Why, I thought you said there wasn't any news!" said Mister Bear in surprise. "That's news. And what happened to the airplanes that started round the world? I've been looking for them to come this way, but I haven't seen any sign of them yet."

"Why, they've been home some days," said Weeny.

"That's news, too," said Mister Bear in a pleased voice. "I'm ever so glad you came to visit Petey."

Weeny and Nancy and Nick were all thinking the same thing. They were thinking, "If Mister Bear keeps on, we won't have much time to play with Petey."

They had never seen such a curious person in all their lives.

BROWN PANTHER OUTPOINTS ARGENTINE BULL

Wills Floors Giant South American With Left To Jaw In Second

Furious Battle Brings Crowd of 80,000 to Its Feet Repeatedly When Negro Shows Superiority.

Boyle's Thirty Acres—Harry Wills, colored heavyweight, outpointed Luis Firpo, Argentine brawler in their twelve round bout here Thursday night.

The black panther outpointed and outboxed his heavier opponent, and scored heavily from the second round straight through to the twelfth.

In the second round Wills brought the 80,000 spectators to their feet when he floored the wild bull with a left to the jaw.

Wills was boxing superbly and slowly but surely was weakening Firpo with body punches, and an occasional right to the face.

Rin'side, Jersey City — More than 60,000 fans were massed in Boyle's Thirty Acres Thursday night when the first preliminary to the Firpo-Wills battle began. With thousands streaming toward the big bowl from all sides, the crowd promised to exceed expectations and come close to its capacity.

There was a rumor that another process server was waiting to serve Firpo with a warrant the moment he entered the arena. When it reached Rickard's ears, the promoter, accompanied by his lawyer, hastened underneath the stands, his cane in one hand and a bail bond in the other. The alarm proved unfounded, however, but there were indications that special precautions were being taken to prevent any eleventh hour legal blockade. Shortly after 8 o'clock Firpo reached the arena. He was accompanied by a heavy bodyguard and taken quickly to the dressing rooms by a route which avoided notice of his arrival on the part of the crowd. The big South American declared that he had never felt in better shape. He bowed himself with every air of confidence.

Firpo was the first to climb into the ring. He wore his famous checkered bath robe and limbered up in his corner during the few minutes interval before Wills climbed into the ring. Both were the target of a battery of cameramen while their gloves were fastened on. Firpo was accompanied by Dan Washington, his veteran Negro trainer, and Bill Tate, while Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, headed a group of Wills' handlers.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND ONE

They met in a clinch in the center of the ring and wrestled to Wills' corner. They clinched again in the center of the ring, the referee prying them apart. Wills staggered Firpo with right to jaw. They exchanged blows at close quarters. Wills got in three heavy blows without a return. There was much wrestling. Firpo staggered Wills with his heavy right. First to the body and then to the jaw, but the Negro was unhurt. Firpo landed a right uppercut, but the Negro only smiled. Firpo missed a right and Wills rushed him towards the ropes with a powerful like leap. They were fighting furiously at the bell.

ROUND TWO

Firpo landed four rights to the jaw as they met in the center of the ring. He staggered the Negro with a body punch. Wills was landing his right consistently to all parts of Wills' body and head. They clinched. Wills knocked Firpo down with a left to the jaw, but he was up at the count of three apparently unhurt. Firpo fell into a clinch when he got up.

Firpo was wild with his right. Wills missed a right. They continued to clinch. Firpo landed his right solidly to Wills' head as the bell rang.

ROUND THREE

Firpo rushed out of his corner with a characteristic leap, but Wills immediately fell into a clinch. They exchanged blows at close quarters. Wills trying up the Argentine whenever possible. Firpo landed to the head and body with his right and took a right to the body in exchange.

Wills landed effectively to Firpo's body when the Argentine attempted to hang on. Firpo landed a beautiful uppercut to Wills' jaw, but the Negro countered with a barrage of body blows. Firpo missed a lunging right just as the bell sounded.

ROUND FOUR

They fell into a clinch at the bell. Firpo's right found Wills' body and the Negro immediately clinched. The referee used his knee to pry the two apart. The referee warned Wills for holding on. Both landed pretty uppers to the face. Firpo was wild with his right. Wills staggered Firpo with a right flush on the face, but the Negro did not follow up his advantage. It was the best blow of the fight. Firpo uppercut with his right. Firpo missed a right and got a right uppercut to the jaw in return. They were in a clinch at the bell.

ROUND FIVE

Wills' left staggered Firpo and the Argentine clinched. Both landed to the body. They clinched. They wrestled around the ring, pulling and hauling at each other. Firpo landed twice to the head. Wills was blocking beautifully. Firpo could not get set for a blow. Wills hammered Firpo's kidneys. Wills' right stung Firpo, the Argentine countering with another right to the head in return. They were sparring for an opening at the bell.

ROUND SIX

They exchanged rights and lefts to the head. There was plenty of body punching at close quarters. Firpo punched at close quarters. Firpo landed weakly to Wills' head. The Negro smiled as he blocked Firpo's leaps. Firpo rushed halfway across the ring to evade one of Wills' rushes. They continued their wrestling tactics. Wills' right found Firpo's jaw again, but the South American got in a sweet uppercut which sent Wills' head backward, just as the bell rang.

ROUND SEVEN

They fell into their usual clinch as they met in the center of the ring. Firpo danced away from Wills' right. The Argentine's plunging rushes were missing. Wills' right found Firpo with a left to the body. They pulled and bawled each other around the ring, hitting with the free hands at any opening available. Firpo got in a right and left to the head which Wills could not block, but no damage was done. Wills jabbed with his left and crossed with his right, staggering Firpo in his own corner. The Negro was hitting harder than his opponent. A right to the jaw made Firpo groggy. Two heavy body blows followed, but the bell stopped Wills from following up further.

ROUND EIGHT

Wills' left found Firpo's body and his right went to the jaw as they met in the center of the ring. Firpo jabbed weakly with his left, but Wills blocked a right cross which followed. A straight right sent Firpo's head backward. The Negro was boxing superbly. Wills landed effectively to the body in a clinch. Wills' punches were carrying more steam than his rival's. Firpo was shot with a right uppercut. The Negro landed twice to Firpo's body. They broke from a clinch as the bell ended the round.

ROUND NINE

The Negro tied Firpo up when he started one of his rushing attacks. Firpo led with his right and fell into a clinch. They exchanged body blows at close quarters. The Negro's reach was bothering Firpo. Wills stood off and peppered Firpo at long range, landing effectively six times without an absolute return. Firpo was going away as Wills' right struck his jaw. The Negro was gaining confidence. Firpo led with his right, but Wills cleverly blocked the blow and caught Firpo on the side of the head coming in. Firpo's right hit Wills hard on the head, but the Negro only smiled. The bell stopped the fight in the middle of a clinch.

ROUND TEN

They exchanged body blows. Firpo protested to the referee for hitting in the clinches. Wills' heavy right was landing Firpo's body consistently. Wills landed a one-two punch to Firpo's head and the Argentine clinched. Wills landed to Firpo's body, but took a stiff one in his wind in return. Firpo danced away from a right and then clinched. Firpo landed weakly to Wills' jaw and followed it with a right to the body which stung the Negro. Wills took a beautiful right on the jaw just as the bell rang.

ROUND ELEVEN

Wills rushed to meet Firpo, but the Argentine clinched. Wills socked his right to Firpo's jaw as the referee attempted to part them. Firpo landed his right to Wills' jaw and followed with a right to the body, but the blow lacked steam. There was much wrestling and hanging on by both principals. Firpo stung his right to Wills' jaw twice in rapid succession, but the Negro kept concentrating to Firpo's body, which was pink from the heavy barrage of blows which he had absorbed. Firpo was getting his right over better, but also taking plenty of body punishment. They were tied up at the bell.

ROUND TWELVE

They shook hands. They immediately clinched. Firpo hanging on desperately. Wills was opening up, trying frantically to put over a finishing blow. He continued his relentless body attack. Firpo was hanging on savagely.

Wills missed a right, but landed two successive rights to the head a moment later. Firpo landed his right straight to Wills' face, but the Negro continued to smile. They continued their clinching and wrestling tactics, Firpo getting the worst of the exchanges which followed.

35 REPORT FOR GRID WORKOUTS AT NEENAH HIGH

Schedule Includes Four Out-of-town Tilts and Two on Home Field

Neenah—Six games have been carded for the 1924 gridiron season by the Neenah high school, and Coach George Christoph started last week to put the largest squad in the football history of the Red and White through daily practices.

Over 35 men responded to the call for practice and uniforms were passed out at the first meeting. If wealth of material and enthusiasm of the men out is any criterion, Neenah High is due to enjoy one of its greatest football years.

Thirteen men of last year's squad are the nucleus about which Coach Christoph will form his machine, but in addition to these veterans there are over a score of new men, many of whom look good and will give last year's vets a run for their places.

Bredendick, who is captain this fall, Jones, Nash, Wismer, Art Parker, Zinn, Stip, Sommers, Koerwitz, Westphal, Richardson, Johnson and Christopherson are the veterans who have responded to the call, and all are in tip-top shape and raring to go. The schedule as now arranged includes four games out of town and two on the home lot. The season will be opened on Saturday, Oct. 4, against Ripon at Ripon and will come to a close on Saturday, Nov. 15, with the annual game against Kaukauna at Menasha Recreation park. Kaukauna, Berlin, Two Rivers and Manitowoc are the other schools on the card.

Saturday, Oct. 11, is still open, and Coach Christoph is attempting to line up another match for that day. It is probable that an extra game against an alumni lineup will be arranged a week or so before the opening of the actual playing season.

The schedule follows:
Oct. 4—Ripon at Ripon.
Oct. 11—Open.
Oct. 18—Kaukauna at Menasha.
Oct. 25—Berlin at Menasha.
Nov. 1—Two Rivers at Two Rivers.
Nov. 8—Manitowoc at Manitowoc.
Nov. 15—Menasha at Menasha.

Settle Dispute

Harry Wills (left), the Brown Panther, Negro heavyweight champion, Thursday night outpointed Luis Firpo, the Pampas Bull, in their 12-round bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres and thereby won the right to meet Champion Jack Dempsey for his crown. Wills floored the Argentine Giant in the second round and scored heavily from then through to the twelfth.

New Players Will Get Chance In Fondy Tilt

Manager David Smith will try out newcomers in one of Sunday's Tilts With Cardinal Club.

When Appleton and Fond du Lac clash in their twin bill Sunday afternoon Dave Smith will try out a number of new players in half of the event. Stackand Stumpf will be on the job as usual in the opener, according to present plans, but in the second tilt a new pitcher probably will be substituted for Stack while Al Goshka, who travelled with the Paper-makers as substitute all season, will act as backstop. Goshka is reputed to be a good all around man, having had considerable experience in the industrial teams of this city and also in the Kromer circuit.

A number of outfielders also will be given a chance to try for positions on the Appleton club, but Manager Smith has not yet decided whom he will put in. The regular players will be on hand to step into the breach if things go badly with the novices, and if the Redlegs are looking for an easy victory they are likely to get a big surprise.

This move is in line with the policy throughout the McGillan circuit to cut down expenses by signing home talent. Fond du Lac has tested this method with considerable success financially, and although the Cardinals have won but one tilt during the second half of the season, every game they lost was extremely close, which proved that Louis Paris may develop a winner in a year or two more.

Appleton has as many good home players as any other city in the circuit, and used more than most of the clubs in the State league this year. With the exception of the battery and Bergerino, all the Appleton players are from this city or the immediate vicinity, and if Dave Smith succeeds in developing a good home battery the rest will be easy.

Appleton Men Meet Kimberly Shoe Pitchers

Horeshoe pitching appears to be a popular game at Kimberly, where the employees of the Kimberly Clark mills have organized a tournament in which more than 50 men are taking part. It is a doubles tournament and the first round brought out some very good scores.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, a delegation of Appleton barnyard golfers will invade Kimberly to take on the pick of the Millmen in a series of match games. Newland, Maahs and Pardee, three of the best pitchers in this city, will be among the invading players, and it looks as though the Kimberly experts will have a hard row to hoe. Newland recently won the city championship in the Y. M. C. A. Post-Crescent tournament here, and Maahs and Pardee have been practicing daily all summer. Maahs was regarded as one of the favorites in the championship tournament but dropped out in the second round when he grew careless with Newland as his opponent.

MARINETTE HIGH HAS HEAVY GRID CARD THIS FALL

Northerners Meet Fox River Valley Conference Schools on New Schedule

Menominee—Marinette high school makes its entry into the football field this fall as a member of the Fox River Valley Conference with one of the hardest schedules arranged for it in the last six years. During the coming season, the purple squad will play three of the strongest teams in the conference and meets several other teams equally heavy and fast.

Teams composing the Fox River Bay, West Green Bay, Appleton, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Manitowoc and Marinette.

"Tom" Johnson's athletes are scheduled to play East Green Bay, Appleton and Sheboygan. These three schools are heralded to be strong contenders for the state title this season. The schedule for the coming season is as follows:

Sept. 27—Shawano at Marinette.
Oct. 4—North Division of Milwaukee at Marinette.
Oct. 11—Menasha at Marinette.
Oct. 18—East Green Bay at Marinette.
Oct. 25—Open.
Nov. 1—Oconto at Marinette.
Nov. 11—Menominee at Marinette.
Nov. 27—Appleton at Appleton.

One of the biggest seasons for the local high school is in prospect this fall. Six games out of seven already booked are to be played on the new Marinette athletic field with the feature game—Marinette vs. Menominee—included in those to be played here.

ROD AND REEL

"Q. AND A."

Q.—Can you tell me how to use crawfish for bait for bass? How are they put on the hook and what size hook is generally used? Can I use them on a casting rod? E. F.

A.—Crawfish make an excellent bass bait, in fact there is none better. They are one of the natural foods, that the bass—especially the small mouth—feed upon most of the summer and are considered a dainty morsel. I would suggest tying them on a No. 3-0 or 4-0 hook with an old piece of casing line or strong thread, with the point of the hook down and the belly of the crawfish lying on the shank. They will work well on a casting rod if a few split shot are added about four or five inches above the hook so as to take them down. However, they should be retrieved with short jerks in order to make them appear active. If you intend fishing from a boat, cast out and let the bait go to the bottom while allowing the boat to float. This will give enough action to the crawfish to make it tempting for it will catch on pebbles on the bottom and as the boat drifts, will hang until it frees itself and then make a hop. When a strike is encountered, let the line have it a while and as he starts to make the "run," set the hook, being careful not to strike too soon as they usually mouth the crawfish before gorging it.

Suits being provided by the Rotary club, costing $600.

Two games at home and two outside games have been scheduled for this. Indications point to a good team a few years from now.

The schedule follows:
Oct. 11—Ripon vs. Berlin, here.
Oct. 25—Berlin vs. Neenah, there.
Nov. 1—Waupun vs. Berlin, here.
Nov. 15—Berlin vs. Mayville, there.

Race In Both Leagues Narrows To Twosome As Westerners Slump

Giants Hold on with Tips of Fingers While Yanks Cut Lead of Washington to Half a Game.

While the New York Giants are hanging by the tips of their fingers to a scant lead in the National league, the New York Yankees are driving frantically on the heels of Stanley Harris' Washington Senators to overcome the narrow margin that separates them from first place. The race in each league is narrowed down to twosome instead of a threesome, and western teams slowly fading out of the pennant picture. While Detroit must still be considered in the running in the younger circuit due to the "breaks" in the schedule which favor it, the chances are looking more favorable every day for the American league pennant to fly over the banks of the Harlem or the Potomac.

Pittsburgh also is emulating a setting sun. The Giants Thursday spent an idle day while Brooklyn, continuing its relentless spurt to overtake the McGraw athletes, won over the Phillies and drew up to within speaking distance of the pinnacle. The Phillies however, made Uncle Robbie know there was a baseball game in progress as the Robins were forced to stay 11 innings to win the decision, 8 to 7.

The Yanks gained Thursday by winning a pair from Boston, 4 to 3, and 8 to 3, while Washington and Detroit sank their puts in the victory cup, the Senators trouncing the Athletics, 7 to 4, while the Tigers nosed out Chicago 5 to 4, in an overtime session, Cleveland tugging desperately, squeezed into the first division in place of George Sider's Browns, gave the St. Louis team a double trimming, 12 to 7 and 19 to 6. Frankie Ellerbe's circuit slip in the ninth inning with the bases saturated, aided in bringing about a decision in the opener.

FOX RIVER AND COATED PAPER CO. MEET SATURDAY

Fox River Paper Co. and Appleton Coated Paper Co. Saturday afternoon will meet at Interlake park to fight over a protracted contest. The teams are evenly matched as an interesting game is in prospect. Groce and Brookhaus will be the battery for the Coated Paper team, opposed by East and Kramusch. The Fox River mill will be represented by its second team which is the one in the Industrial league.

The first team which plays Sunday and holiday ball exclusively is due to clash with Fremont at Interlake park on Sunday.

STYLE WITHOUT EXTRAVAGANCE

616 Oneida St., Appleton Wis.

To Thinking People

'Price' has never been and never will become a more important consideration than good style, good quality and good fit in your shoes.

But

just now there seems to be an inclination to use price as a 'business banner' placing quality and fit secondary.

Frankly

We have shoes at $5.00—we feel that our position is sufficiently strong to enable us to give better values at $5.00 than our competitors (a statement which we shall be glad to back up by comparison).

However

We know that $1.00 more will buy more than its worth in additional quality in shoes. We therefore present seven new shoes at $6.00—super values which defy competition. See them in our windows.

Traffic will change in different directions every 30 seconds. Each of the smaller lights flashing in rotation will
